COCHITUATE

Town Library Organized for Full Century

100th Anniversary Celebration Is Now in Progress

COCHITUATE, May 21—The Wayland public library is celebrating its 100th anniversary this week with exhibits of many old and valuable documents, pictures and items of interest on display for the public in the Francis Shaw room of the library.

In 1847, at the Brown University commencement exercises, President Francis Wayland gave $500 to the town of Wayland to establish a free public library. Upon the suggestion of Edward Mellen, Esq. the donation was tendered upon the condition that $500 should be obtained in the town by subscription or otherwise.

The amount of $1,000 was to be issued for the purchase of books for the library. The money was raised and at a meeting of the town of Wayland, on Nov. 8, 1847 a committee was formed to confer with Mr. Mellen on the subject of a room for the library. Members of the committee were James S. Draper, Hervey Reeves, Henry Coggin, Samuel M. Thomas, William Heard II and John Sherman.

After the March town meeting in 1848 the town voted to appoint a library committee which included Edward Mellen, John B. Wight, E. H. Sears, John Wallen, John N. Sherman, James M. Bent and William C. Grout. Books were purchased on Aug. 7, 1850 and the first catalogue of books was made and is now on display with later catalogues dated 1853, 1860, 1865, 1866, 1875, 1884.

The town of Wayland had a free public library in active operation in 1850.

Wayland Man Active

To Rev. Francis Wayland, D.D., of Providence, is due the honor of originating the movement resulting in the Library Act of May 1851 in this state, that the Rev. John B. Wight of Wayland did more than any other man to bring that idea to its present practical form that ought of circumstances attending the effort to establish successfully a free public library in Wayland sprung the endeavor to effect the passage of the above named act, an endeavor which has been crowned with success.

To Wayland goes the honor of having the first public library in this State and the second in the United States. The library was originally located over Collin's Market, which was then the town hall, and had over 1000 volumes which included volumes from the six school libraries. On display is the first lithographic stone dated 1850 which was used to lithograph the covers of the books.

Persons interested in the history of the town of Wayland will find on display many fine photostatic copies of the original maps and plot plans of the Town of Sudbury, of which Wayland was then a part. Due to floods in the river Meadows the citizens on the West side of the river could not attend church or town meetings on the east side and petitioned the General court, praying that the meeting house be moved, which caused a feud between the two factions, and ultimately ended in the division of the town of Sudbury to Sudbury and East Sudbury.

In 1735 at a town meeting East

Sudbury citizens voted to change the name of the town to Wayland. Photostatic copies of the petitions that were sent to the General Court are also on display with a transcript of the original records of the town of Sudbury and the original records of East Sudbury and Wayland in that era.

Also on display are some of the tools used in the very few industries of Wayland, including a cooper's adze, and shoe sole edging iron, and trimmers, old records and accounts of Dr. Ebenezer Roby in 1733 showing names of patients and charges for service, as well as his saddle bags; pictures of some of the original houses such as the Toby house on Glezen Lane, now Gouldings antique shop, the Willis sisters' house which is now owned and occupied by the Francis Hatches, and Mr. Theodore Sherman's Boot Shop which stood opposite Benson's store, as well as picture of the original residents and other pictures of interest. Indian relics found in Cochituate and Wayland may also be seen. Copies of "The Wayland Sentinel" dated 1874 and "Our What-not" dated 1876, newspapers of that era are there for inspection.

On one of the tables is the day book of the Old Green store dated 1827 which was carried on by Gleason and Heard in the ground floor, north half of the Emerson residence. Some of the items of interest in the accounts were, Pantaloon, $1; pint of wine, 13 cents; butter, 16 cents a pound as compared to today's price of 96 cents, 2 quarts of N. E. Rum, 18 cents, pair of shoes, $17, 1 pt. of stoten bitters, 23 cents; 1/2 bus. potatoes, 25 cents.

The exhibit is sponsored by the Friends of the Wayland library and may still be seen until Wednesday between the hours of 2 to 5 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m.

Mother's Day At Eagles Hall

Eloquent Tribute by Past G. W. President

A mothers' day program which paid tribute to the ideals of motherhood and the worth of the home was sponsored yesterday afternoon by the Framingham Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles in the Aerie home.

The role of the Eagles in pioneering for a national mother's day was told by Charles P. McCann of Newark, N. J., Past Grand President of the Order, the principal speaker, who declared that the observance was "a renewal of our pledge to the ideals that find their highest expression in Motherhood."

Mr. McCann told how the first public plea for a mother's day was made by an Eagle, the late Frank Hering, South Bend, Ind., who became editor of the Eagle Magazine and national president. In 1904 at a memorial service sponsored by Indianapolis Aerie, Hering, then a young professor at Notre Dame university, urged that a day be set aside as a national observance in honor of mothers. Mr. McCann said, Aeries began sponsoring a mother's day, and in 1912 two years before Congress provided for the national observance, the Eagles national organization placed a Mother's day on the Eagle calendar, he added.

The American war mothers, in 1925, dedicated a plaque at the site of the Hering talk, and four years later invited Hering to speak at the first mothers' service at the town of the Unknown Soldier, McCann related.

"We greet the national observance of mothers' day with something more than pride, with a deeper understanding of its sacred purpose," McCann said.

Albert Cole Chairman

In the address of welcome, Albert E. Cole, chairman of the committee in charge, said that the Eagles by campaigning for the first mothers' pension law, enacted in Missouri, and for state old age pensions, had implemented their philosophy that the mothers' domain, the home, is the basic unit of modern society.

"The more than one million members of the Fraternal Order of Eagles fight under the standard of motherhood," he said, "not for gain or glory, but for social justice, in order that men and women—mothers—especially—may find life in it easier and happier."

Two solos were rendered by Francis Hobin. A mothers' day prayer was given by John P. Hobin, Past Grand Worthy chaplain of the order and captain of the "Boys In Green" drill team.

An exhibition of their new drill formations was presented by the aerie drill team, to the accompaniment of pianist Daniel W. L. Keefe and Dr. William Robert Augustini at the drums.

This public program followed the initiation of a mothers' day class of 20 candidates by the degree team of Framingham aerie with John J. Rice as president, Maurice Johnson as junior past president, Edward P. Carey as vice president, Paul Ducey as chaplain and Andrew J. Halloran as conductor.

Nuptials for Natick Girl

Miss Traniello and Mr. Michaud Wed

NATICK, May 24—Wearing a white marquisette gown fashioned with a portrait neckline and her mother's Belgian lace-trimmed heirloom veil attached to an orange blossom coronet and carrying an orchid surrounded by white roses and lilies of the valley was Miss Doris Anne Traniello, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Traniello of 31 North Main street, when she became the bride of Claude R. Michaud of 39 A North Main street, Sunday afternoon.

Rev. Thomas Sweeney officiated at the 3 o'clock double ring service which took place in St. Patrick's church. Wedding hymns were played on the organ by Miss Bernice McKinney. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The couple was attended by Miss Josephine Traniello of Natick, sister of the bride as maid of honor and Roland Cyr of Natick, uncle of the bridegroom as best man. Bridesmaids were Miss Frances Planagan of West Roxbury, cousin of the bride, and Miss Jean Michaud of Natick, sister of the bridegroom. Ushers included Joseph Simms of South Natick, Guilford Perkins of Natick, and Gerard LaVassaur of Boston, cousin of the bridegroom.

Miss Traniello was groomed in yellow marquisette made with net yoke, three quarter sleeves and full skirt. In her hair she wore a floral headpiece which matched her spring bouquet.

Also receiving spring bouquets were the bridesmaids who were in identical off-the-shoulder marquisette gowns which differed only in color. Miss Michaud was in green and Misses Planagan and Sheehan were in orchid. Each had floral head-dresses.

Miss Traniello, mother of the bride was groomed in dusty rose with a matching feathered headpiece while the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Michaud was in an aqua gown with a flowered headpiece. Both had orchid corsages.

Miss McCarthy of Wellesley was in charge of the guest book at the reception for 125 guests which was held in Wellesley Inn. Music for dancing was by Mangano's orchestra of Boston.

For their honeymoon to New York, New Hampshire and Canada, the bride donned a powder blue linen suit trimmed with white, a blue hat and white accessories. They will reside at 39 A North Main street, following their return.

The former Miss Traniello was graduated from Natick High school with the class of 1947 and is employed in the office of the C. S. Collins Company of Newton. The bridegroom, a navy veteran, is a member of the graduating class at Vaughn Barber school, Boston. He attended schools in New Hampshire.

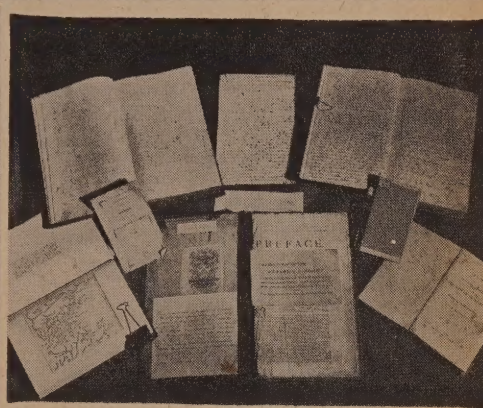

Natick and Milford Couple in Marriage

Miss Anna Ames, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Barrows of 19 Moore street, West Natick, and Frank Luciarini of 27 Ryernall street, Milford, were married on Sunday, May 16, at Milford.

The couple was attended by Miss June Phinney and Thomas Luciarini, brother of the bridegroom. A blue dress with white picture hat and white accessories topped with an orchid corsage, was the wedding ensemble of the bride. Her attendant was clad in a blue dress with a corsage of red roses.

Following a reception held in Milford, the newly-weds left on their honeymoon through the Berkshires and New York State. They will make their home at 27 Ryernall street, Milford.

Mrs. Luciarini attended Natick schools and was employed by the New England Tel. and Tel. Co. in Framingham. Mr. Luciarini is employed at the Ashland Chemical Co.

Auxiliary at St. Andrew's

Delegates Attend Day of Offering

One of the most important meetings of the Women's division of the Church Service League of the Episcopal Diocese of Massachusetts, is the day of the united thank offering, the third Wednesday in May each year.

This took place last Wednesday at the Cathedral church of St. Paul, Boston. The day began with the service of holy communion at 10:30. Bishop Heron, celebrant, assisted by Very Rev. Edwin J. Van Etten Dean of the Cathedral; Rev. Richard Knight of the Cathedral staff; and Rev. Robert Woodroffe of Grace church, Newton.

Seven hundred women from 200 parishes were present. During the singing of the hymn, "Holy Offerings, Rich and Rare," the custodian from each parish joined the procession to present the offering from the women of her parish.

Because of the illness of St. Andrew's custodian, Mrs. James Copthorne, the offering was presented by Mrs. Edwin Burgin.

The total amount received on Wednesday was $15,032.45. This money will be used for missions all over the world, and will be presented at the Triennial in 1949. The offering from St. Andrew's was previously presented at the morning service on Sunday, May 16, by Mrs. Ralph Dinsmore and Mrs. Walter Taylor, before being taken to the Cathedral.

The morning sermon on Wednesday was preached by Mr. Woodroffe who took for his subject, "Christianity in the Modern World." It is disturbing to learn that Christianity is far from being the dominant religion even in the Western World and is no longer an organized missionary force in the world.

The most powerful competitors are the political and economic philosophies. These are not necessarily opposed to Christianity but through size and impetus influence the average man. This condition is dangerous in the modern church. In the Old Testament story, the prophet Elijah became discouraged at the ups and downs of the Hebrew people but the Lord directed him to behold and preach the word with boldness.

The noon-day service was conducted by Rev. Henry H. Wiesbauer of the Cathedral staff who is director of the pastoral counselling center.

Mr. Wiesbauer quoted from the third chapter of St. John, "This is the condemnation, that men love darkness because they do evil." He urged that we use our brains in religion as we use them in other fields with basic principles rather than narrow precepts speaking to our minds as well as to our hearts.

Healthy religion is where men are thinking. He took the life of John Wesley as an example of what it means to be a child of God and a servant of the people. The result of Wesley's life is one of the strongest influences in the world today, the Methodist church.

The afternoon session opened at 2 o'clock in the Undercroft, in charge of Miss Gertrude Baker, treasurer of the United Thank Offering. Mrs. Everett Winkinson, president of the Women's division, reminded us of the conference at Loch Haven in July. A few reservations are available but application should be made at once. She also spoke of the two great meetings to be held in Europe this summer. The Lambeth Conference in London in June and the first World Council of Protestant churches in Amsterdam in August. There, 167 denominations will meet together. Truly, a great step in economical co-operation.

The speaker of the afternoon was Sister Constance Anna of the Community of the Transfiguration, recently returned from Wuhu, China, after serving there 28 years, three of them spent in a concentration camp. She went to China as a trained nurse and her work and influence has been outstanding. She started the "True Light" industrial work on faith and prayer and it never failed. There were many hardships but the blessings far outnumbered them.

She told many interesting and amusing tales of life there especially during the Japanese occupation. Today, more Chinese are asking to be Christians, whole families are being converted; the children are going to school; the harvest is great but the laborers are few. Workers are needed today more than ever before. If you cannot go yourself, give and pray; be missionaries at home to make possible those abroad.

There was an exhibition of missions handicraft. Tea was served, the purveyors, Mrs. Norman B. Nash and Miss Eloise G. Dexter. Delegates from St. Andrew's were Mrs. Edwin Burgin, Mrs. Lawrence Randall and Mrs. Otis Fisk.

Girls Scouts Attend Rally

Spend Saturday At Camp Virginia

The weather did not hamper the spirits of the Girl Scouts, who turned out in large numbers for the rally which was held at Camp Virginia, Bolton, Saturday morning and afternoon. The girls met at designated spots and had an enjoyable bus ride to the camp.

On arrival at the camp, the girls gathered in the main lodge and were greeted by Mrs. Howard B. Randall. Some of the girls, who attended camp last summer, showed the others around and

The pro, Bud Trumbull, went to Pawtucket this morning to take part in the N. E. P.G.A. tournament, 36 holes, metropolitan style. His amateur partners will be Farron C. Jarboe of Wayland, formerly of Framingham, Robert Koksins and Joe Burke.

In the M.G.A. tournament at Ponkapog Saturday, in a field of 195 players, Raymond carded a 76 for the best gross of the tournament. He had only one birdie in his tour of the rugged M. D. C. course but he was home ahead of all other contestants. His pace was one stroke better than that of George Curley, 1947 state amateur finalist, and two better than that of Joe Monahan Jr. of Winchester, winner at Framingham the previous week. <td></td>

Wildcats Top Bay Path by Fourth Win

The Natick Wildcats maintained their unbeaten pace at the top of the Bay Path league with their fourth straight, defeating the Union club, 11 to 2, yesterday.

The Woodville Ramblers won their fourth game, against a single setback, with a 7 to 4 triumph over the Framingham Redwings to hold second position in the standing.

Charley Grace of the Framingham Mohawks took the spotlight yesterday as he hurled a no-hit, no-run game to spark his team to a 10 to 0 win over the Histon Rangers.

Grace faced only 22 batters during his performance, setting down 17 on strikes. Throat-headed Mohawk right-hander has given up just three hits in his 18 innings on the mound, while striking out 31. He walked five, but a runner got beyond second.

Bob Corkery hurled a two-hitter for the Natick Wildcats. Summaries:

Prominent Athletic Stars For Sports Night Program

Acting Recreation Director Richard Ryan announces that a sports night will be held tomorrow night, Tuesday, at Eagles hall at 8 o'clock. It is being sponsored by the Boosters' club of Framingham and the public is invited. There will be no charge and all sports enthusiasts, men and women alike, are welcome.

An interesting program has been arranged by Dick Ryan including speakers and movies.

Guests will include Joe Mullaney, All-American basketball player at Holy Cross, Bill Gallagher the famous blind good luck charm of the Holy Cross N.C.A.A. basketball team, Bob Sullivan Holy Cross back who was voted the outstanding football player in New England last year and also played in the east-west game in San Francisco on New Year's day. Another speaker will be Veto Kissell of the football Kissells of Nashua, N. H.

In addition to these guests members of the Framingham High school coaching staff will speak on the present teams and the outlook for the future.

Lee Emerich will be master of ceremonies and the Johnny Mason quartet, now being featured at the Roundup, will supply music starting at 8 o'clock.

Movies of the Holy Cross-Michigan N.C.A.A. tournament basketball game will be shown and also movies of the Holy Cross-Columbia football game. These movies will be narrated by the guest players who took part in the games.

Gerry Cote of Montreal, winner of the Hopkinton to Boston run last April 19th, led the field in the marathon run at Los Angeles last Friday. Cote took 2 hours, 42 minutes, 30 seconds to cover the distance, the length as the Hopkinton to Boston grind. Joe Smith of Somerville was second and Tom Crane of Springfield third.

In the Bay State league tomorrow the games scheduled include Needham at Dedham, Framingham at Milton, Wellesley at Norwood and Natick at Walpole. The Friday slate has Dedham at Milton, Needham at Natick, Norwood at Walpole and Wellesley at Framingham.

Marlboro High track team will visit Framingham tomorrow afternoon to meet the unpredictable Framingham track team. Framingham has tied two meets, won one and lost two. Last week the team was badly outclassed by Wellesley and two days later came back with a sterling performance to defeat Walham.

Wayland High is due to meet a strong Sudbury team at Wayland on Thursday. Sudbury meets Stow at Sudbury tomorrow. Holliston High has a game scheduled at Hopdale for Thursday.

Milford tops the Midland league and looks like an easy winner. Coach Charlie Brucato has a well balanced club that deserves consideration for the eastern Massachusetts tournament this season. The Midland league standing to date:
